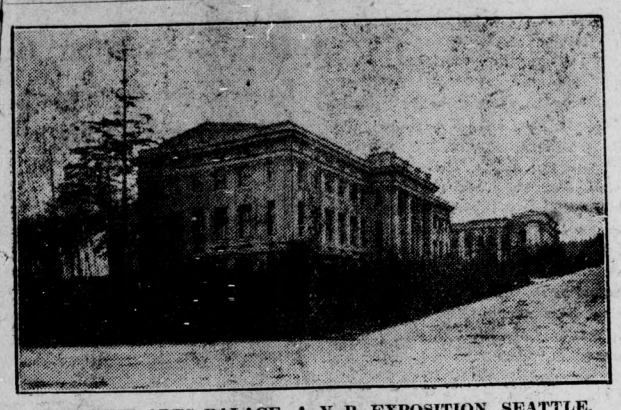
OURTEENTH YEAR | CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA CO., CAL., FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1909 | No. 50



THE FINE ARTS PALACE, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

Into the Palace of Fine Arts there has gone as fine a collection of works of art as has ever been shown at a world's fair. It is made up of loan collections from Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and the Eastern states of America. Also there are valuable specimens of work by the leading modern artists of Japan and China, and many of the more notable works of their ancient artists.

So valuable is the collection that insurance in the sum of $1,225,000 has been placed upon it with Lloyds.

The building is absolutely fireproof. It is of reinforced concrete and brick and, at the end of the Exposition, it will revert to the University of Washington. by which it will be used as a School of Chemistry.

THE HAWAIIAN BUILDING, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

The building erected at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition for the exclusive use of the Hawaiian Islands, occupies a prominent position on the Court of Honor next the central government structure.

Hawaiia has prepared a more extensive and comprehensive exhibit of its marvelous resources than for any other world's fair. It will show all of its native fruits and vegetables; will offer an aquarium of live fish, and in various other ways interest the fair visitors. Fruits will be served by native girls and native orchestras and singers will be always on hand. A tank in the center of the structure will show the islands as they rest in the Pacific Ocean.

Upwards of $100,000 has been expended in assembling Hawaii's display.

Mrs. Schumacher, son and daughter spend the summer in Campbell. will

Mr. j. S. Fay has been ill for the past two weeks with malaria.

Miss Powers, from San Francisco, is visiting Mrs. Copeland.

FIRE TOTALLY DISTROYS HOME

House of Mrs. Wakeman on Central Avenue Burned to the Ground—Fine Work of Fire Company and other Citizens—Property owners show Appreciative Spirit

Property Carried no Insurance

AN alarm of fire was sounded Wednesday afternoon at 1:05 just as everybody had begun work. A dense cloud of smoke was coming from the house of Mrs. Wakeman on Central Av. and before the fire company could get there the whole building was in flames. The house was totally destroyed and nothing was saved from it.

The fire was caused by the exploding of a kerosene stove which which Mrs. Wakeman had just lit before she went into the yard. When she returned to the house she was greeted by a cloud of smoke which issued from the doorway. The house was not insured, the policy having run out less than a month ago and had not been renewed.

By the untiring efforts of the fire company and others, a cottage belonging to Dr. Cooper, less than 10 feet from the burning building was saved and probably had that caught the whole town would have gone up in flames. In appreciation of the efforts of the firemen Dr. Cooper and the Farmers' Union of San Jose and Campbell each contributed $50 towards a fire engine and equipment.

Need of better fire protection and water pressure was clearly shown and as a result a mass meeting of citizens was called for Wednesday evening an account of which appears elsewhere.

Notice to Fruit Growers.

Notice to fruit growers of Campbell and vicinity. We have the agency of many of the largest canneries and commission merchants of San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles. We will be in position to handle a large portion of the green fruit in this section. As we will not have a regular agent in the field, it would be well for the growers to call on us before disposing of their fruits.

Improvement Society

Holds Important Business Session—Commitees Appointed

FRIDAY evening the Improvement Club at the Bank Building and several items of importance were brought up and action taken.

The meeting was called to order at 8:30 by President Sawyer. Nine members of the club were present, the small attendance being caused by the short notice given.

One of the main topics was that of fire caution on the 4th of July as sky-rockets, etc, generally do much damage. It was moved and seconded that the "Press" be asked to call the attention of the people to the necessity of keeping away from all buildings when celebrating and to burn all grass and weeds around their property. The fire of Wednesday shows more clearly than we can, the necessity of caution.

Another matter was that of having a night watchman for the business part of town this summer. Mr. Sawyer was appointed a committee of one to interview the business men and property owners, with an idea of ascertaining how much can be raised to secure one.

A committee of Messrs. Whitman Shelly and Thomes was appointed to interview the officials of the Interurban railroad to see if they can induce them to run their Hamilton & Johnson cars to Campbell. It was brought out that the schedule reads one hour's time for the run from San Jose to Hamilton and Johnson and return, and also the same time for the run to Campbell and return. The same committee was given authority to interview the S, P. in regard to stoping the through trains at Campbell. It was brought ont that these trains stop at every "jerk-water" station in the mountains and go a "whoopin'" through Campbell.

It was suggested that the Inspectors be asked to come and inspect the town as to sanitary conditions. Some were inclined to think that startling facts would be brought out at some of the private houses. While we believe this to be exaggerated, still great caution ought to be exercised that our sanitary conditions are of the best. Everybody ought to get their places cleaned up before the work of the summer makes this immpossible.

Wedding Bells Ring

Professor Powers Marries One of Campbell's Most Popular Girls

TUESDAY at noon Miss Eva Pearl Bohnett became the bride of Prof. Edward A. Powers of San Luis Obispo. The marriage ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents as well as the Reception which was held from 1 to 3 p. m.

The ceremony was preformed by Rev. Patchell of San Jose under a canopy of green and white. Carnations, red geraniums and pepper branches were the decorations used and were very beautiful. The best man was Calvin Bohnett and Miss Lois Bohnett acted as bridesmaid.

Almost all of the citizens of Campbell attended the reception to the couple which was held from 1 to 3.

The couple left in an automobile for San Jose followed by a shower of rice, rose petals and old shoes, while a string of shoes was tied to the rear of the auto and went bumping along all the way. Mr. and Mrs. Powers will spend their honeymoon at Lake Tahoe after which they will reside in San Luis Obispo where Prof. Powers is teacher in the High School.

A Special Meeting

Mass Meeting of Citizens at Coffee Club Wednesday night

THE Improvement Club called a mass meeting at the Coffee Club Wednesday night to discuss ways and means for fighting fire.

The meeting was called to order at 8:15 with President Sawyer in the chair. Owing to the absence of Mr. Kennedy, the secretary; M. Earle Adams was appointed secretary pro tem. The first speaker of the evening was Assemblyman Bohnett, who described and answered questions on the "Law for Formation of Fire Districts in unincorporated Towns."

It seems that if we get a petition signed by fifty tax payers and residents of the town of Campbell and present it to the Board of Supervisors of the county, and name three men to serve as Fire Commissioners, the Supervisors will name the Commissioners who will have full authority as to naming the boundaries of the District. Should it be desired to raise funds for equipment and maintenance of a Department, an election to vote taxes for such purposes shall be held. A limit of 1 per cent for equipment and ½ maintenance is set. If the election carries, the Supervisors are notified before July 1st of each year, and they will incorporate the tax in with the other county taxes.

Postmaster Coates moved that the meeting proceed to organize a fire district. The motion was seconded and carried. It was then moved and seconded that a committee of three be appointed to map out a dummy fire district and circulate the petition and report at a meeting to be held in the near future. The committee named consists of Messrs. Sawyer, Duncan and [illegible].

It was then moved and seconded that a vote of thanks be extended th the Fire Department who saved the town, after which adjournment was taken.

OAST EVENTS OF PAST WEEK TERSELY TOLD

Interesting News Items From States Bordering On the Broad Pacific.

Assemblage of Paragraphs That Present Important Occurrences in Condensed Form.

Mare Island.—Owing to the fact that there are three big cruisers at the Mare Island yard undergoing repairs, there are over 2600 men now employed at the local station.

San Mateo.—The city's clubwomen have entered wholeheartedly into a campaign for marking El Camino Real, the highway used by the early Spanish fathers, with a mission bell signpost. The bell will be erected by subscription.

San Mateo.—The charges of assault with intent to commit robbery preferred against Harry Alt and Thomas Sullivan, two local youths, accused of having held up and beaten three Chinese employed on the Uplands estate of Miss Jennie Crocker, have been dismissed.

Sydney, B. C.—Word has been received here of a clash between the Gloucester, Mass., fishing schooner Senator Gardner and a French steam trawler on Quero bank. The captain of the American vessel, according to reports of other captains, fired on the Frenchman with a rifle.

Redwood City.—Citizens of the United States and local residents will be given the preference in the future in all municipal work. Some complaints had been made with reference to the class of laborers employed on the reservoir work, and the Council accordingly adopted a resolution on the subject.

San Francisco.—The Fraternal Order of Eagles has decided to issue bonds in the sum of $175,000 to run for twenty years and bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent. The money to be realized by this means will be used to build a new hall in Golden Gate avenue almost opposite the wigwam of the Improved Order of Red Men.

Fitchburg.—Fitchburg has been divided into two sanitary districts—Fitchburg and Seminary Park districts—and during July the two boards will issue election calls for the purpose of voting on sewerage bonds. County Surveyor Haviland has already mapped out the system and a campaign will be inaugurated at once to insure the carrying of the bonds.

Los Angeles.—The oldest applicant for a divorce on record in Los Angeles county and perhaps in the State in the person of Mrs. Delilah A. Carr, 79 years old, was granted a decree by Judge James. Mrs. Carr said her husband, Delos Carr, had left her ten years ago without any explanation and she had finally concluded he was not coming back. The couple had been married twenty-five years.

Vallejo.—Elks from many cities about the bay will be bidden to Vallejo on Sunday, July 4th, and Monday, July 5th, to attend the dedication ceremonies of the Vallejo Lodge of Elks, which will occupy its new $25,000 home in Sacramento street. The building is three stories and basement, with clubrooms on the first floor, hall on the second floor and a roof garden and apartments on the third.

San Bernardino.—B. L. Lothrop and Henry de Silva have arrived here from Phoenix, Ariz., with news of having sighted two of the old Government camels near Quartzite. The Government in 1860 brought twenty-one camels to this country to aid in the military department. They failed of their purpose and were turned loose on the desert to die. It is believed these two are the last of the unfortunate aliens.

San Rafael.—The school census report for San Rafael, just made public, shows an increase of sixteen children over one year ago. The total number of children over 5 years and under 17 years attending schools in San Rafael is given as 1108. Of this number 575 are boys and 515 girls. There are five colored children and thirteen Mongolians. The report gives 782 families within the San Rafael school limits. Two hundred and sixty-four children are listed as attending private schools.

SAN JOAQUIN MELON GROWERS SEEK DAMAGES FROM SEEDSMEN

Assert That Crop Was of Poor Quality and Will Sue Eastern Firm.

Stockton.—Watermelon seed will be the pivot around which a suit to recover $5000 will revolve, according to Jones & Doty of Manteca, prominent melon-growers in this county. For two seasons they purchased their seed direct from the Buckbee Seed Company in Illinois and made a business of producing fine melons, but the Manteca growers declare that last season the seed was not up to the standard and they thereby lost considerable trade from firms that used their melons exclusively.

The papers are being drawn up by Attorney Law T. Freitas and the sum of $5000 is asked in the way of damages. As the interested parties reside in different States, the action will be aired in the Federal Court at a later date. Jones & Doty assert that they were greatly damaged, as they have the largest trade in melons in the West, having supplied ten or twelve different States during the last three years. Just how the quality of the melons produced last year, which the plaintiffs claim to be inferior to those of other seasons, can be classified is a question the courts will have to decide upon.

Summer Students Will Be Entertained

Berkeley.—With the assurance that the attendance at the annual summer session of the University of California will be the largest in the history of the institution this year, announcement has been made of a notable series of evening lectures and entertainments to be given in conjunction with the regular work.

On Monday and Friday evenings popular lectures, illustrated with stereopticon views, will be given by distinguished visitors at the summer session, including Frederick Mortimer Clapp, Professor Merriman and Professor Neilson of Harvard, Professor Lucian Foulet and others, while for Wednesday evenings the chairman of the musical and dramatic committee of the University has arranged for a series of musical and literary evenings.

Peculiar Verdict of Jury.

Salinas.—Not guilty because insane, but recommended to the mercy of the court, was the rather contradictory verdict returned by a jury in the Superior Court in the case of Milton Hensley, charged with grand larceny. After weighty consideration over the evidence the jury reported to the court that it found the prisoner not guilty and specifically set forth their reason for the verdict, stating that they believed him insane. The recommendation for clemency was not explained, however, and the court is somewhat at a loss to know how to show its acceptance of the suggestion, as the prisoner was immediately discharged.

Five-Year-Old Child Commits Suicide.

Central City, Ky.—Because he was spanked by his mother the five-year-old son of Mrs. Samuel Scott carried out a threat that he would drown himself in a well. After his whipping the child left the house and in a moment his mother heard him scream. She looked into the well and saw his curls just above the water.

Railroad Magnate Declines Federal Post

Chicago.—A preference for railroading over diplomacy, coupled with a desire to continue his work and his home in Chicago, were reasons assigned by Frederick A. Delano, president of the Wabash Railroad, for declining the honor conferred upon him by President Taft in offering him the post of Minister to China.

Confessed Murder in First Degree.

Baltimore.—What is declared to have been a message from his victim in the spirit land is what caused J. J. Mueller to confess the murder of his fiancee, Regina Reed, and in the Criminal Court to plead guilty to murder in the first degree. There was no direct evidence against him.

Would Discourage Swedish Immigration

Stockholm, Sweden.—The Swedish Consul in New York, in a dispatch to his Government, emphasizes the unwisdom of Swedes emigrating to America, where, he declares, times are bad at present.

Russia Building Warships.

St. Petersburg.—The keels of four battleships of the greater Dreadnaught type have been laid. It is said it will take three years to build the vessels.

Ten Jurors Refuse to Declare Trolley Magnate Guilty

San Francisco.—Standing ten to two for acquittal, the jury trying Patrick Calhoun, charged with bribery, was discharged at noon Sunday by Superior Judge Lawlor after the twelve men had reported in court that there was no hope of an agreement on a verdict.

For acquittal: Jurors Gillespie, Symington, Granville, Dixon, Maguire, Suydam, Mackroth, Blender, Anthes and Cashman..

For conviction: Jurors Hildebrecht and Binner.

"Calhoun is as guilty as hell," said Prosecutor Heney, as the jurors were filing out of court, "and I am ready to go ahead and try him again."

"If we can get a fair District Attorney in San Francisco," said Calhoun, "I propose to submit formal charges against Heney for having received illegal payments of money, and against Rudolph Spreckels and James D. Phelan for having made them."

Members of the jury were more or less outspoken about the case, the ten men who voted for acquittal declaring that they could not send the President of the United Railroads to San Quentin on the testimony of witnesses like "Big Jim" Gallagher and professional detectives.

"There was too much purchased testimony to suit the jury," explained Juror Charles H. Suydam, wholsesale grover, 2251 California street. "It was a crime to have a man like Binner on the jury. His hearing is defective, and he was voting upon Juror Hilderbrecht's view of the evidence in holding out for a verdict of guilty."

"We could not swallow the testimony of the men who were testifying under immunity," said Juror Joseph Dixon, clerk, 2000 Steiner street. "As for witnesses like Helms, Korngold and other detectives who admitted that they had been taking money from both the prosecution and the defense, their place should be in a sewer instead of a courtroom."

"Why did the majority vote for the acquittal of Calhoun?" said Foreman George Gillespie, building contractor, 2204½ Devisadero street. "Well, it was principally on account of lack of confidence in the testimony of the Supervisors, detectives and one or two other witnesses called by the prosecution. I do not care to discuss the matter further than to say that the majority of the jurors could not accept the credibility of this character of testimony."

Suydam, Dixon and Gllespie voiced the views of nearly all the jurors who voted for acquittal, the impression that prevailed in the jury-room being almost unanimous among the ten men from the time they began to deliberate Saturday noon.

Calhoun refused the congratulations that some of his friends offered as the jury was leaving the courtroom for the last time, and to one who said to him: "It might have been worse," he replied, "It might have been worse, but it ought to have been better."

With his attorneys, he went to his offices in the Balboa building, where he issued a statement in which he declared his intention of making formal charges against Rudolph Spreckels for offering a bribe to a public official, and against Francis J. Heney for accepting a bribe.

"There lie in the courtroom forty checks made by Rudolph Spreckels to Francis J. Heney since his alleged appointment as assistant District Attorney," said Calhoun. "Those checks were deposited in the American National Bank to his private account. They aggregate $23,800. The first of them amounted to $4,900. They are the price of his infamy. He cannot escape the fact that he is a corrupt public official by the contention that he has been engaged in a holy crusade. He cannot defend the acceptance of money from a private citizen for the express purpose of enabling him to devote himself exclusively to the so-called graft prosecution without committing the crime of accepting a bribe."

Heney was one of the last to leave the courtroom, where he had been surrounded by crowds of admirers and supporters of the prosecution. He shook hands and conversed with a number of friends regarding the outcome. Although plainly disappointed, he wore the determined look which is characteristic of him.

"Will you try Calhoun again?" he was asked.

"I will try him again, and I am ready to start in to-morrow morning. What I said in my argument to the jury regarding the guilt of Patrick Calhoun still stands. I do not care to make any further statement at this time."

The prosecutor showed signs of the terrible strain he has been under, but smiled as he turned to leave the courtroom.

Supreme Court Holds Corporation Tax is Constitutional

San Francisco.—The "corporation license tax," as approved by the Legislature March 20, 1906, which provides for a license tax on corporations doing business in California, has been upheld by the Supreme Court. The demurrer of Secretary of State Charles Curry to the petition of the Kaiser Land and Fruit Company for a writ of mandate to compel Curry to file a certificate decreasing the number of its directors was sustained and the proceedings ordered dismissed.

The decision of the Supreme Court in sustaining the demurrer of the Secretary of State is a signal victory in favor of the constitutionality of the act, which has been fought by the corporations since it was first promulgated. The law was attacked at every angle. The decision settled the question of its legality. Hereafter all corporations, domestic and foreign, doing business in the State of California must pay to the Secretary of State, in proportion to its capitalization, an annual tax. The tax shall become due July 1 each year and will become delinquent September 1 following.

Fruit Shipments From Pacific Coast Are Enormous

Chicago.—People in the Middle and Eastern part of the United States have no adequate conception of the immensity of the volume of fruit shipped yearly from the orchards and groves of the Pacific Coast to supply their wants. Such is the opinion of C. M. Secrist, general manager of the Pacific Fruit Express Company, which handles all fruit shipped over the Harriman lines from California and other Western points.

Although the company has been in the field only two years, it alone during the last year moved from the Pacific Coast 43,700 carloads of fruits of various kinds, and expectations for the present year are for a total shipment far in advance of that amount.

In order to take care of the rapidly increasing volume of business, the express company is contemplating during the coming year an expenditure of $1,250,000 for improvements, both in terminal facilities and in rolling stock.

Admiral Schroeder Would Put Ban Upon Cigarettes

Washington.—Cigarette smoking by the enlisted men of the United States navy should be discouraged as much as possible in the opinion of Rear Admiral Seaton Schroeder, commander in chief of the Atlantic battleship fleet.

Schroeder has recommended to the Secretary of the Navy that no cigarettes be sold at the ship's store on any of the vessels under his command and Meyer may take action in accordance with Schroeder's recommendations.

Schroeder believes that cigarettes impair the health of the men and do not in any way tend to increase their efficiency for duty.

LURID DISPATCHES AROUSE ANTI-AMERICAN SENTIMENT

Inflammatory Reports Sent to Tokio by San Francisco Japanese.

Tokio.—Special dispatches from San Francisco to Japanese newspapers are so worded as to indicate that conditions obtaining in the Hawaiian islands, growing out of the Japanese sugar plantation hands' strike, are extremely serious. They declare that the Japanese on the mainland, as well as those in the islands, are greatly incensed over the treatment accorded their countrymen by the Hawaiian planters, and say that relations are strained almost to the breaking point.

The publication of these inflammatory dispatches is again arousing an anti-American sentiment among the Japanese lower classes. The sensational papers are seizing the opportunity and commenting editorially in a manner calculated to increase this feeling of hostility.

Japanese Consul-General Uyeno at Honolulu and the officials of the Japanese Foreign Office are inclined to minimize the seriousness of the Hawaiian situation. They frankly declare their belief that the special dispatches are giving untrue reports, evidently the work of the jingo element among the Japanese of Hawaii and on the mainland.

Law Breaker Refused Naturalization.

Springfield, Ill.—A man who keeps a saloon open on Sunday in this State is not a fit person to be a citizen of the United States, the Illinois Supreme Court held in the case of the United States against Lewis Harsky of East St. Louis, who sought to compel the Government to issue naturalization papers to him. His petition was denied.

Harsky set up in defense that all other saloon keepers of his city kept open on Sunday and the mayor and police sanctioned it; therefore he should not be discriminated against. The court said:

"It is essential to the safety and the perpetuity of government that laws be enforced until repealed. A decision as to the wisdom of the Sunday closing statute rests with the Legislature, not with the courts, but so long as it is law it should be enforced."

American Mothers Roasted.

Portland, Ore.—"There is not one decent mother in Portland, and there is not a girl that is fit to be the wife of my son," said Mrs. Emma B. Carroll, a fashionable Portland music teacher, at the conclusion of a pupils' recital recently. Mrs. Carroll's remarks, made publicly and printed in the newspapers, have caused a tempest among Portland mothers. Her recital was invitational, and she is said to have been piqued by the small attendance. When the program was completed she launched forth into a tirade, in which she declared that no children are properly raised in America. "Children just grow, like Topsy," she said.

Salt and Match Monopolies Win.

Caracas.—The High Federal Court has declared unconstitutional Castro's decree of January, 1907, which annulled the salt and match monopolies. The decision restores to the Ethelberg Syndicate, Ltd., of London, all its rights. Albert Pam, director in the monopoly companies, successfully carried through the negotiations.

Dr. Snow on State Board of Health.

Sacramento.—Dr. W. H. Snow of Stanford University has accepted the Governor's offer to appointment as a member of the State Board of Health to succeed Dr. N. K. Foster, who has resigned. Dr. Snow does this with the understanding that he will be elected State health officer and receive a salary of $3,000 a year.

President Reyes on Way to Washington

Bogota, Colombia.—President Reyes, it is understood here, was a passenger on the Prinz Sigmund, which sailed from Santa Marta on June 11th for New York. The newspapers intimate that his visit to the United States is to arrange a settlement of pending questions.

Torpedo Boats Sent to Seattle.

Washington.—Admiral Pillsbury states that the department has decided to send a number of torpedo boats and destroyers to Seattle, where they will be open to the inspection of the public.

Caucasians and Asiatics Won't Mix.

Kansas City.—Governor Hadley has signed the bill prohibiting the marriage of Caucasians with Chinese, Japanese and other Asiatics.

Brief Paragraphs That Give Busy Readers Review of Week's Happenings.

Summary of News Gathered by Correspondents Located in Every Quarter of the Globe.

Honolulu.—W. G. Irwin has brought a foreclosure suit for $300,000 against Charles Gay on a large tract of land on Lanai Island.

New York.—Charles W. Morse, the banker who was convicted of violating the national banking laws, was admitted to bail in the sum of $125,000.

London.—Raven Cody, advertising himself as a son of "Buffalo Bill," fatally shot Alice Seymour, a girl who was appearing with him in a sketch entitled "The Cowboy Gentleman," at Newberry, Berkshire.

Brillion, Wis.—While the marriage vows of Miss Catherine Mulhaney and John Bartz, a leading business man of this city, were being solemnized, Miss Joseph Manlik, a friend of the bride and groom, who attended the ceremony, fell dead from apoplexy.

Paris.—The Government is elaborating a plan for rebuilding the villages in the south of France destroyed by the earthquake a few days ago. It will contribute part of the expense outright and arrange loans on easy terms for the balance. President Fallieres has contributed $4,000.

Washington.—The resignation of Francis E. Leupp as Commissioner of Indian Affairs, which has been pending since March 4th, was accepted by President Taft, and Robert G. Valentine, assistant Commissioner, was named to succeed him. Mr. Leupp has wanted to retire for some time on account of ill health.

Salt Lake City, Utah.—Dan Tso Ac, a 15-year-old Navajo Indian boy, pleaded guilty in the United States District Court to the charge of murdering four of his relatives several months ago at Aneath, in a remote portion of this State. He was sentenced by Judge Marshall to serve a term of 10 years' imprisonment in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., and pay a fine of $500.

Honolulu.—Dr. Thomas Greene, who has been in Japan investigating the labor conditions of that country, has returned to Honolulu. He reports the deportation of 200 Chinese laborers and artisans from Yamaguchi, capital of a prefecture in Southwestern Japan, for underbidding Japanese workmen. The deportation, declared Dr. Greene, was made under a secret decree, which gives provincial governors summary authority to expel undesirable persons from their provinces.

Washington.—The speech which Senator La Follette delivered in the Senate on the tariff in course of the three days of June 2, 3 and 4 is printed in the Congressional Record. It covers 217 pages of the record. This is not the longest speech ever delivered in the Senate, John A. Logan's effort in the Fitz-John Porter case having exceeded it in length, but there has been no address in the Upper House in recent years that approached it in amount of printed space filled.

Washington.—Dishonest wholesale liquor dealers who substitute inferior "doctored" whisky for aged whisky in distillers' original packages, bearing Government warehouse and tax paid stamps, will hereafter run the risk of the seizure of their goods by revenue agents. A decision to that effect was made by Acting Commissioner Williams of the Internal Revenue Bureau, who ordered the seizure of all distillers' packages when, by chemical test, it shall be shown that other spirits than those inspected had been substituted.

Paris.—Princess de Sagan, formerly Anna Gould and later the Countess de Castellane, appealed some time ago in the Court of Cassation against the judgment of a Paris court which directed her to pay $24,000 to Mme. Wimdoff as the price of a pearl necklace Count Boni de Castellane bought before her divorce from him, and which, she asserts, she not only never received, but never even saw. The Chamber of Petitions of the court has now rejected the appeal of the princess on the report of Counselor Letelier, and concurs in the conclusion of Advocate-General Fouilley.

Glad He Quit Praying.

Little Johnnie, who had been praying for some months for God to send him a baby brother, finally became discouraged. "I don't believe God has any more little boys to send," he told his mother, "and I'm going to quit it."

Early one morning not long after this he was taken into his mother's room to see twin boys who had arrived in the night. Johnnie regarded them thoughtfully for some minutes.

"Gee!" he remarked finally, "it's a good thing I stopped praying when I did."

Still Held the Grudge.

Medium (at seance)—Is there a Mrs. Kersmith in the audience? Her first husband wishes to converse with her.

Mrs. Kersmith—There is, but you can tell him I don't care to have any confabulations with him. Tell him that when I went to collect his life insurance I found he'd let it lapse.

Emergency Call.

At a draper's shop in Leeds they employed a small boy to run errands. The other day while he was waiting in the shop a lady came in and asked the shop assistant for a yard of silk. When it was placed in front of her she exclaimed:

"Oh, really, I must be mad. I want muslin."

On hearing this the boy rushed out of the shop, and seeing a policeman across the way ran up to him shouting:

"Come over quick, there's a girl in our shop gone mad. She wants muzzling."—Tit-Bits.

Doc. and Prof.

"By the time a man arrives at years of discretion," observed the doctor, "he usually finds that he needs a wife as a sort of amendment to his mental and moral constitution, and he takes one."

"That reminds me," said the professor, "of an old widower of my acquaintance. He has just adopted a fifth amendment to his constitution."—Chicago Tribune.

The Boy's Sugaring.

Winter lets up just a mite
Along in March; the sun gets bright
An' dazzly where it strikes the crust;
Night and mornin' 'though you just
Have to hyper round—or freeze—
Doin' chores, and hug your knees
Tight in bed. Then comes a snow,
Soft and damp; an' first you know
It's sugarin'!

The oxen wallow through the drifts,
Breakin' roads: for nature's gifts
Always need a little workin'
For, to get the best. No shirkin'
Brings in clear, sweet maple sap:
Have to hang clean tubs, and tap
Trees that's sound, and lift and pour.
'Tain't an easy job outdoor,
In sugarin'!

But when you're boilin' then you get
All the fun the' is to it.
And that's some I tell you: just
Loaf, and stuff yourself t' bust
Eatin'. Mother puts you up a snack
For your dinner, and you crack
But'nets, boil eggs in the pan,
And just eat all the sweet you can
In sugarin'.

Have to split a little wood,
Of course, and see 't the fire burns good;
Keep the pans skimmed, and look out
That the strainer fits the spout
When the gatherin'-tubs come up.
Have to watch old Molly's pup,
Too, t' see that he don't fall
Int' the holder, collar'n all,
In sugarin'.

Rest the time you just lie round
Loose, and listen to the sound
Of the squirrels on the beams
Makin' such a fuss it seems
As if they owned the sugar place.
With the firelight in your face
Sit and read old Ledgers till
You wish't you was Texas Bill
In sugarin'.

Don't last long, it don't somehow:
Sap gets buddy, and the plow
Has to be attended to.
But a maple taste runs through
Pies and sauce and ginger-cakes
And everything that mother makes.
Fortnight long or so, it's queer
How it sweetens all the year,
Does sugarin'.

TYPHOID FEVER.

Its Origin Can Be Traced to Vegetables.

Inasmuch as the claim is at times made that typhoid fever is communicated through the agency of vegetables grown in a soil infected with typhoid bacilli through drainage or otherwise, it is of interest to study a recent European investigation by Dr. Clauditz dealing with this subject. He found that when fresh typhoid bacilli were placed in the earth they were not particularly adaptive to new conditions, and did not flourish, but if they were associated with other bacteria which were native to the soil they were more hardy, and could be propagated in the form of cultures which will endure in the ground for several months. Using some bacteria developed in this way, a thorough test of the susceptibility of vegetables for harboring these micro-organisms was made. First there were planted in soil thus infected peas, radishes, cress and other vegetables, which were allowed to grow until several inches in height, they were then cut off level to the ground, and after being washed with sterilized water they were bruised in bouillon, a substance which is particularly favorable for the development of bacteria. The results showed that in only one of the four experiments could any typhoid bacilli be detected. It was then determined to ascertain whether the bacteria penetrated to the interior of the plants, and for this purpose their surface was first washed with a solution of bi-chloride of mercury, which would have the effect of killing any germs with which it came in contact, but at the same time would not necessarily penetrate to the interior and act on any micro-organisms in the inner tissues of the plant. The plants were then tested as before, with negative results, and the conclusion was reached that even in the event of bacteria being present on the roots or leaves they were not able to reach the interior structures.—Harper's Weekly.

FRESH AIR GOSPEL NEEDED.

Writer Tells of Contradiction in Case of Man Needing Oxygen.

A couple of years ago I was hastily summoned to the bedside of a long time friend who was seriously ill with pneumonia, writes Charlotte A. Aikens in an article in the Trained Nurse. It was in February and a thick layer of snow was on the ground. The room in which the patient lay had three or four large windows, each re-enforced by an outside "storm" window as a protection from the weather. Each window was tightly closed. The man was struggling for breath, face and hands cyanotic, with a temperature soaring around 105 degrees fahrenheit.

The case was exceedingly critical. When the doctor of the little town arrived he outlined to me the treatment he had used, and asked if I had anything to suggest. I had already had one of the double windows removed and a good volume of air was coming in. I mentioned the fact that oxygen was being used in hospitals to an increasing degree in cases of embarrassed respiration. As a drowning man will clutch at a straw, the doctor and the family caught at the idea of getting a tank of oxygen. There was none to be had that the doctor knew of nearer than the nearest large city, 100 miles distant, but a message was hastily dispatched for the tank of oxygen to be sent on the next train.

The man died before its arrival, but the point that impressed itself on me was the zeal displayed in trying to secure oxygen bottled up in a tank, and the precautions used to keep the natural supply of oxygen away from the sick man, who was battling for his life and whose whole system was being starved for want of it. The gospel of fresh air and its sensible, practical application to health and disease will still bear a good deal of emphasis.

A Growing Business.

Years ago a northern visitor was walking along the streets of Jacksonville, when he spied a small darky in the sun brushing flies off himself.

"Well, Rastus," the visitor said, pausing to address the youth, "do you manage to keep busy these days?"

"Yes, suh,' returned the boy.

"Very busy?" queried the visitor, in an unbelieving tone of voice.

"Yes, suh, returned the boy.

"At it now?" grinned the visitor.

"Yes, suh,' said the boy.

"What is your business—shooing flies?" asked the visitor.

"No, suh; my business is jes' growin', suh."—Harper's Weekly.

TRAPPING A GORILLA

Story of a Vicious Struggle In the African Jungle.

A NET THAT FAILED TO HOLD.

The Snared Monster Broke Through Its Meshes and Was the Cause of One Death Before He Was Himself Killed by the Attacking Party.

Captain Fritz Duquesne, the Boer ivory hunter, was commissioned by a German naturalist society to capture one of each species of African quadrumana. He was entirely successful in the work, except that he could obtain no gorilla. Finally a pygmy pointed out a portion of the dank jungle in which a gorilla had been seen.

The captain immediately arranged his camp and laid his plans and made preparations to trap the monster and get him alive if possible, though he fully realized the danger of the undertaking.

"For four days," said the captain, "we camped in this hotbed of disease. Beaters went out in all directions searching for the gorilla. At last some deep, wide scratches were found on a cluster of vines. On close examination the unmistakable hair of the gorilla was found on a broken twig.

"After some hours we found the tree where the gorilla lived. We could tell it by the greasy appearance of the bark, made so by the repeated rubbing of the gorilla's body. We could tell by the fresh marks, with sap still wet, that the animal had recently ascended the tree. The scratches were short and deep, showing that it had lifted itself up and had not slid down, which would have made a long, shallow scratch.

"We spread a strong net around the tree in a circle sloping upward on the outer side. Around the top of the net there were drawn ropes from four directions, held by half a dozen natives hidden in the bush. These were to bring the top of the net together and thus bag our game.

"After waiting some hours the leaves above rustled and then opened as a six foot male gorilla descended unsuspectingly and entered the trap. I signaled, the four ropes were pulled at once, and we had our animal—for a moment. He roared in fury, twisting, jumping and biting the rope into pieces. The natives were pulled about like dolls as he tried to reach first one and then another. The professor jumped about in excitement, trying to focus a camera on the infuriated animal.

"At last the mighty arms of the gorilla broke a hole through the net, and he tore the rest from him as though it were a rotten rag. Most of the natives fled in dismay. The professor dropped his camera and tried to escape. In a moment the gorilla grasped him in its terrible hands.

"I seized my rifle and fired in the air to frighten the animal. In my position I could not shoot at him without hitting my friend. For a moment the gorilla stood still, holding the now unconscious man as though he were a baby, the brute's lips drawn back from his glistening teeth.

"I thrust another cartridge in my rifle. As I did so there was a buzz in the air, and an arrow, shot by a native, pierced the gorilla's side. A roar burst from his red throat, and he dropped his victim. Like a flash, before I could shoot, a native sprang from the leaves and, half throwing, half thrusting, drove an assagai into the gorilla's heart. With a groan the brute fell dead.

"Examining the professor, I found that his right arm was broken and that some of his ribs were crushed into his lungs. We gave up the effort to get a live gorilla and, placing the injured man in a hammock, carried him back toward the east coast.

"He died on the road. Out on the veldt beside a native village a lonely little slab marked 'Carl Bloch' sticks up above the grass. It is the professor's grave. Hunting is not all exciting adventure and laughing victory. It has its tears, like other things."—Hampton's Magazine.

Court Dwarfs.

Until about little more than a century ago dwarfs were frequently kept as court toys. Records of them might be multiplied almost indefinitely.

Bebe, the dwarf of Stanislaus, king of Poland, lived to be ninety years of age, dying in Paris in 1858, and is variously described as having measured thirty-five inches and twenty-three inches. Julia, niece of Augustus, had two dwarfs, each twenty-eight inches in height, and Henrietta Maria had two whose joint height was seven feet two inches. The Emperor Augustus had a dwarf named Lucius whose height was two feet and weight seventeen pounds. The last court dwarf in England was Coppernin, who belonged to the Princess of Wales, mother of George III.

An Isle of Man Oath.

What is regarded as the quaintest oath still in use is that taken by the high court judges in the Isle of Man, the terms of which are as follows: "By this book and the contents thereof and by the wonderful works that God hath miraculously wrought in the heaven above and the earth beneath in six days and six nights I do swear that I will, without respect of favor or friendship, loss or gain, consanguinity or affinity, envy or malice, execute the laws of this isle justly between party and party as indifferently as the herring backbone doth lie in the midst of the fish. So help me God and the contents of this book."

SUMMONS

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Santa Clara.

J. S. Spaulding, Plaintiff, vs. S. L. Mastic, Parish B. Ladd, Francis Clarke, B. F. Bute, also all other persons unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the complaint adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, Defendants.

The people of the State of California send greeting to S. L. Mastic, Parish B. Ladd, Francis Clarke, B. F. Bute and all other persons unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the complaint adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, defendants. You are hereby directed to appear and answer the Complaint in an action, entitled as above, brought against you in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Santa Clara, within ten days after service on you of this summons, if served within this county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere.

And you are hereby notified that unless you so appear and answer as above required, the said plaintiff will take judgement for any money or damages demanded in the Complaint as arising upon contract, or will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the Complaint.

That the object of this action is:

1. To determine all of the adverse claims, interests in, right or title to, liens or clouds upon the said premises described in the Complaint herein or any part thereof claimed by said defendants or any or either of them.
2. That it be adjudged by the decree of this Court that the plaintiff is the owner of the premises described in the Complaint herein, in fee, free and clear of any interest in, right or title to or lien or claim upon the same or any part thereof by said defendants or any or either of them.
3. That the defendants, S. L. Mastic, Parish B. Ladd, Francis Clarke, B. F. Bute and all other persons unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in said real property or any part thereof, adverse to plaintiff's ownership, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, and each and every of them be forever debarred from asserting any claims, right, title, estate, lien or interest in said real property or any part thereof, adverse to plaintiff, or any cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, and for general relief.

That the property described in the Complaint and affected by this action is as follows: All that certain tract, piece or parcel of land lying and being situate in the County of Santa Clara, State of California, which is bounded and described as follows, to-wit

Beginning at the Northeast corner of th Northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 30 in Township 6 South Range 2 West M. D. M. and running thence South along the line between Sections 30 and 29, 7.61 chs; thence West 20 chs. thence North 7.61 chs. to the dividing line of Sections 30 and 19 and thence East along said last named line 20 chs. to the point of beginning. Containing 15.22 acres of land and being a part of the Northeast ¼ of Northeast ¼ of Section 30 Township 6 South Range 2 West.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Santa Clara, this 22nd day of April A. D. 1909.

Temperance Lesson. Rom. xiii: 8:14.

Golden Text—Put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ—Rom. xiii:14.

Verse 8.—Is it always sinful to go into debt, when you have no visible means of paying it?

Is it right, or wrong, to go into debt when you have nothing to pay with, if your creditor knows your circumstances?

Is a business man who has honestly failed in business and given up all he has to his creditors, under moral obligation to pay the balance of the debt, if he makes enough money to do so out of future business?

Under modern business conditions, and the law of love and righteousness, when wholesalers sell on time, or give an adequate discount for cash to retailers, why are not the debts of an honest bankrupt retailer, the legitimate loss of his creditors in common with himself?

Wherein consists the folly and sin of a wage-earner in constant work, getting into debt?

Is it the duty of everybody to love everybody, the bad and the good, enemies and friends?

What is the advantage of loving everybody, to ourselves, and to those whom we love?

Verses 9-10—Give reasons, outside of the Bible, that will cover all circumstances, why it is always wrong to disobey these five moral prohibitions. (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Must all such acts, as are here forbidden, contravene the law of love to make them sinful; for example, if you had to kill a man who was about to kill one of your loved ones, would that be sinful?

Can an act be wrong that works out for the good of all parties?

Verses 11-12—If you knew you had to die inside of a month, what effect would that have upon your intentions and actions, so far as God is concerned; and if it would change these in the least, does that not prove that you are now living wrong and are in danger?

Most people are morally and spiritually asleep, and many are far into the night; what are the conditions which should suddenly startle such into full consciousness, as to their danger, and their duty?

Verse 13—How is it that the night is the time selected for so many bad deeds?

Should a man ever do a thing which he is ashamed for his best friends and neighbors to know?

Does the popular conscience generally, or always represent God's attitude to a thing; or are there some things God may be pleased with which the community would condemn as wrong, or vice versa?

How is it that barrooms are generally screened off from the public gaze?

Why is it a crime for a man to get drunk?

Why do most drunkards get drunk in the night, or away from public gaze?

Does the drink habit generally lead to the other four grave evils mentioned in verse thirteen?

Verse 14—What is the sure remedy for the drink habit, and all kindred evils of the flesh?

Does putting on Jesus, always mean putting on strength so we can control all the passions of the body, and the ambitions of the soul?

Poultry Secrets Disclosed!

Is this cock properly held? "Poultry Secrets" tells you how to carry fowls, and scores of secrets far more important and hitherto unrevealed.

THERE are secrets in the poultry business, as in any other; the best methods and newest discoveries seldom reach the amateur poultry raiser and the general public for years after they are originated. A new method of absolutely insuring the fertility of setting eggs, for example, has

Enormous Cash Value

and its discoverer is not to be blamed for keeping it to himself. Now, for the first time, the secrets of many of the most successful poultrymen are made public. No confidence has been violated; every secret has been

Obtained in an Honorable Way

(1) by outright purchase; (2) by free permission given the author, Michael K. Boyer; (3) by collecting old, valuable, but little known methods; (4) by Mr. Boyer's own experience covering 30 busy years. Since this book was first advertised four or five months ago, it has been necessary to print eight editions, and many new and valuable secrets have been added to the original book.

Read What Purchasers Say

I received Farm Journal and "Poultry Secrets," and am very much pleased with both. The secrets are worth their weight in gold. Why, I paid $5 for the sprouted oats method. You certainly give a fellow over his money's worth.
ANDREW F. G. MORLEY, Utica, N. Y.

Received your book of "Poultry Secrets." It's an exceptionally instructive work, and worth $10 to any progressive poultryman. I would not care to take that for my copy if I could not get another.
ROBT. F. KINGSLAND, Montville, N. J.

As to "Poultry Secrets," I will say, I have lectured on this subject over the greater portion of this state for the past fifteen years, and have about every book that is published on this subject in my library, and I consider this book of yours the most valuable I know by far for the general public.
L. A. RICHARDSON, Marine, Ill.

Your book "Poultry Secrets" received, also the February and March numbers of the Farm Journal. Eminently satisfied with all three. Got more than my money's worth on any one page of either publication.
F. L. VANDERBURGH, Hereford, Texas.

A Few of the More Important Secrets

Boyer's new system for insuring fertility of setting eggs.
Wood's ingenious method for saving the weak incubator chicks.
I. K. Felch's System of In-breeding without the least loss of vitality.
Selecting the laying hens—the central thought of the so-called Hogan, Potter and Palmer Systems.
The Philo System, a brief outline telling what it is and for what it is valuable.
Several new food formulas, many of them the same as expensive "patented" foods.
The "15-cents-a-bushel" method of producing green feed.
Greiner's Corn Feeding System; and other new rules for feeding corn and grain.
Truslow's Secret of obtaining high market prices for poultry stock.
The Angell method, admirably adapted to the small flock in village or suburb.
Grundy's method of obtaining bulky food at a cost of 8 cents a bushel.
Dr. Wood's Secret of Laying Food for producing eggs.
Professor Rice's Fat Hen Secret explaining why lean hens don't lay.

AND MANY OTHERS, NOT ENUMERATED HERE

It would be absurd to expect every bit of this information to be unknown to everyone; we make no such claim. But to the great majority of poultrymen it will be absolutely new, and of great value.

ABOUT FARM JOURNAL.—Farm Journal has for thirty years made a specialty of poultry; this department is ably edited and more valuable than many specialized poultry papers. This is only one section, however, of a remarkable magazine—a monthly with 600,000 subscribers. NOT a dreary, technical farm paper, badly printed on cheap paper, full of medical and trashy advertisements, but a magazine for the home — town, village or country; well printed and illustrated, clean, clever, quaint, and always cheerful; intensely practical; equally at home on a thousand acre farm or on a suburban back garden; and in a dozen ways UNLIKE ANY OTHER PAPER.

OUR OFFER: { One Copy Poultry Secrets / Farm Journal - 2 Years / Press 6 months on trial } All 3 for $1.

(We Cannot sell "Poultry Secrets" by itself—only in this Combination.)
